

Faubus to Meet With Private School Group

By RICHARD DAW

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Gov. Orval E. Faubus and segregationist leaders, fighting against time, planned today to confer soon on plans for opening private all-white schools despite an adverse federal court ruling.

Their target date for putting the schools into operation is mid-October, the same time the Eighth U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals is scheduled to take its next action in the tangled Little Rock case.

School officials have said Oct. 31 is the absolute deadline for beginning classes in some form if a year's accredited school work is to be accomplished.

The appeals court yesterday extended its order that prevents the city's four closed high schools from being leased and operated as private institutions.

But on the heels of the order, Faubus expressed confidence that the Little Rock Private Schools Corp. can successfully set up a high school system without use of the public school buildings.

And Dr. T. J. Roney, president of the private school corporation, said the schools would be opened "as soon as we get rolling."

The governor indicated he and Roney would meet soon, perhaps within the next few days.

As the knotty integration struggle settled into a grim round of behind-the-scenes conferences, there were these developments:

1. Faubus said his office had received $30,000 in donations in one day for the private school group, and he declared "I think this is an idea of the public response to the appeal for funds by the corporation."

2. A Methodist church's governing board voted to offer its new education building to the private school group, pending approval of the district superintendent.

3. Two Justice Department attorneys, sent here from Washington to assist in school integration matters, left and said they didn't know when they would return.

The appeals court, it is said, extended its order preventing the leasing of the Little Rock schools after hearing attorneys of the federal government, the Little Rock School Board and the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People.

The court's order followed action advocated by the NAACP and supported by the Justice Department.

In effect, it deadlocked the Little Rock situation. The schools remain closed and beyond the reach of the private school corporation. The city's 3,000-odd students still are in school.

Yesterday's ruling was on an NAACP request for a preliminary injunction to prevent the schools from being leased pending action Continued on Page Two

Beef Prices Hit Best Peak in Years

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Beef cattle prices in Arkansas were reported yesterday to have hit the highest mid-month level in six years last month.

The Farm Commodity Price Report said the price on Sept. 15 was $18.80 per hundredweight.

The report also said that the price of calves — $24.80 per hundredweight — was the highest since Aug. 15, 1952. Prices on chickens, lambs and hay crops were reported down.

A price increase also was cited for milk cows, eggs and milk.

Ike Has a New Aide in Persons

WASHINGTON (AP)—Wilton B. (Jerry) Persons was sworn in today as President Eisenhower's chief aide, Sherman Adams, the man he succeeded, looked on solemnly from the rear of the room.

Adams, who resigned under fire Sept. 22, is staying on at the White House until there has been what he has termed an orderly transition.

A White House conference room was crowded with relatives, White House staff members, and other well-wishers as Persons, 62, formerly Adams' deputy, was sworn in with Eisenhower standing beside him. Atty. Gen. Rogers administered the oath of office.

A moment before the ceremony started Adams slipped into the back of the room and watched from there. He left as soon as the oath had been administered and did not join the line of well-wishers who shook hands with Persons and congratulated him.

Persons, a retired major general, was long associated with Eisenhower in the Army. He has been on the White House staff since the President took office in 1953.

Adams quit his $22,500 a year job after hot criticism of his relations with Boston industrialist, Bernard Goldfine. Some Republicans contended Adams had become a major political liability.

U. S. Taking Time in Ending Convoy Duty

By WARREN ROGERS JR.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States, taking its time, is expected within a day or two to quit conveying Nationalist Chinese supply ships in the Formosa Strait.

The order to the U. S. 7th Fleet is to be based on the absence of Communist shelling — not on the condition laid down in Red China's offer Sunday to cease firing for one week providing that the U. S. convoy operations be halted.

Officials drew that line, line of distinction to emphasize two points:

1. That Red China started the trouble with six weeks of almost continuous bombardment of Quemoy, and could ease tensions any time without conditions, simply by stopping the shooting.

2. That U. S. conveying has been strictly in international waters, and nobody tells the United States what to do on the high seas.

Officials were gratified at the Red Chinese offer. But they were not unaware that it contained a number of diplomatic propaganda hooks.

A determination to avoid getting snagged on any of them explained why the United States was taking its own good time about ordering a suspension of the convoy.

That was clear in a State Department statement welcoming the Peking bid. Noting that no firing would mean "no further necessity for the convoy," the statement said: "This question is being given careful consideration."

Clinton Board Asks Talk With Ike

CLINTON, Tenn. (AP)—Anderson County School Board members drafted today a statement to be forwarded to President Eisenhower requesting an audience to discuss what the board calls "the Clinton High School problem."

Supl. James A. Newman said the statement will be forwarded to the White House sometime during the day. It will ask for a conference this week, he added.

The board also called a meeting Monday night authorized a delegation of county officials to seek an audience with the President at the earliest possible date to discuss the Clinton High School problem.

Asked what the board meant by the "problem," Newman replied: "It has to do with the dramatic incident. Other than that, I prefer not to say anything at this time."

Clinton High's white and Negro students returned to makeshift classes in temporary quarters pending transfer to a new school building at nearby Oak Ridge.

Pope Continues to Show Much Improvement

By FRANK BRUTTO

CASTEL GANDOLFO, Italy (AP)—Pope Pius XII continues to show improvement, an official medical bulletin announced today.

The bulletin, third released since the 82-year-old head of the Roman Catholic Church was felled by a cerebral stroke Monday, indicated the pontiff's tremendous continuing resistance to the inroads of illness.

For the first time since the stroke partially paralyzed the Pope some 26 hours before, there was cautious expression of hope that he could recover.

The bulletin, read in the square outside the Pope's summer residence, said:

"The condition of His Holiness, in general, continued to improve throughout the night. His senses appear to be completely lucid. There are no signs of failure of the movements. Last night he hiccuped (with which the Pope has been troubled for a week) again reappeared, but they disappeared early this morning."

Earlier Msgr. Angelo dell'Acqua, the Vatican substitute secretary of state, told newsmen the Pope had spent a quiet night and "his improvement is satisfactory and progressive."

One of the attending doctors, Prof. Ermano Mingazzini, said the Pope this morning had been able to take solid food — some shredded chicken in thin broth — for the first time since the stroke. Mingazzini also said a "kidney block" which developed Monday had been overcome.

The bulletin was signed by the Pope's personal physician, Prof. Riccardo Galeazzi-Lisi, Antonio Gasparini, a specialist from Bologna, Mingazzini, and Ferdinand Correll.

Scores of persons maintained a vigil outside the palace in this hill town 18 miles south of Rome. Thousands of messages of hope for his recovery poured into the Vatican. "Around the world" prayers were said.

The Pope suffered a blocking of blood to the brain soon after saying mass and receiving communion Monday. He fell into a coma and was partially paralyzed. Extreme Uncion, the last rite of the Roman Catholic Church, was given, and members of his family were summoned.

Later in the day the pontiff rallied, and a bulletin at night said his condition had "appreciably improved" so far as the circulatory disturbances were concerned.

Jack Lowe, President of the Hope Chamber of Commerce, made the final talk prior to presentation of the certificates.

This class was a community wide cooperative project and was judged to be highly successful by all who attended and participated in the instruction. Mrs. Mac Turner and Earl Downs of the Hope High School faculty were the chief instructors.

The twenty-five women who completed the course are: Arta Archibald, Mrs. Bruce, Louella Cobb, Velma Collier, Virgie Mae Collins, Opal L. Well-Dressed Man Found Shot to Death

VAN BUREN, Ark. (AP)—A well-dressed man was found shot to death on White Rock Mountain beside a lonely logging road in the Ozarks late yesterday.

And police reported today that a man and a woman had been arrested in Oklahoma for questioning in the slaying.

Crawford County Sheriff Tommy Wilbanks said today that the man may have been Virgil Gray, 48, a Decatur, Ga., mortician, who has been missing since Saturday.

The body, found by squirrel hunters, apparently had been dumped from an automobile. There was no indication of a struggle or of the body having been dragged.

Prosecutor N. D. Edwards said an autopsy showed that the man had been killed by a bullet wound in the right temple.

Authorities found a laundry mark bearing the name "Gray" and labels indicating the man's clothing had been bought in Atlanta, Ga.

Red Planes Over Quemoy Fired on by Nationalists

WASHINGTON (AP)—A State Department spokesman asserted today that Communist plane flights over Quemoy constituted a "provocative act" out of line with the Red ceasefire.

Press officer Lincoln White said that therefore the antiaircraft fire by Chinese Nationalist batteries against the Communist aircraft this afternoon was not in the slightest a break in the ceasefire by the Nationalists.

White went out of his way at a news conference to try to counter complaints that the United States had gone ahead conveying Nationalist supply vessels to Quemoy since the ceasefire was instituted by the Reds.

Yet he would not say flatly that all conveying had now actually been halted. He implied it had been or was about to be.

The Red Chinese complained Monday that after the seven-day suspension of Communist attacks on the offshore island was announced a U. S. warship escort of Nationalist supply craft had operated as usual.

"I want to make it perfectly clear," White said, "that the first conveyance to Quemoy after the ceasefire announcement was well under way when the announcement was made."

The United States is expected within a day or two to quit conveying Nationalist Chinese supply ships.

By SPENCER MOOSA

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—Nationalist Chinese antiaircraft guns on Quemoy punctuated the ceasefire in the Formosa Strait this afternoon, firing on eight Communist planes which flew over the offshore island.

The Nationalist Defense Ministry said the Red aircraft did not attack and were not hit by the Nationalist fire. They flew back toward the mainland.

The Quemoy antiaircraft batteries were the first guns to go off in the area since the Communists proclaimed a seven-day ceasefire, effective 40 hours before.

Observers in Taipei did not consider the Quemoy truce had necessarily been broken, since the ceasefire announcement had been spoken of only as a temporary truce.

Bulletin

CASTEL GANDOLFO, Italy (AP)—Vatican sources said tonight there had been a slight deterioration in the condition of Pope Pius XII, battling to survive a stroke.

The sources said members of the Pope's household reported that a urinary difficulty, said to have been cleared up this morning, had returned in the evening.

Students at Clinton Back in Classes

CLINTON, Tenn. (AP)—Students of Clinton High School return to makeshift, integrated classes today pending transfer — probably Thursday — to a vacated school building at near Oak Ridge.

Meanwhile, the Anderson County School Board voted in executive session Monday night to send three of its members to Washington later this week for a conference with President Eisenhower on the Clinton problem.

"We're sending three members," said School Supl. James A. Newman, "but we don't know which three or what we will say to the President—we're still working on procedure."

Three pre-dawn explosions rocked the high school Sunday, wrecking the interior. Damage has been estimated at $300,000.

Since then, rewards totaling more than $60,000 have been offered for the arrest and conviction of those responsible.

As FBI and local authorities investigate the bombing, the 450 white and 11 Negro student will attend classes in the undamaged gymnasium, an elementary school, the city recreation center and a National Guard armory.

The FBI moved into the investigation with the aim of learning whether the blasts violated federal law. But the agents, unobtrusively gathering evidence to determine this, obviously will aid in the state's investigation.

Deck Officers Strike Ends in 6th Day

NEW YORK (AP)—A six-day strike of ship deck officers has ended and the issues in dispute will be arbitrated by AFL-CIO President George Meany.

Meany said the 1,300 strikers would resume work today.

The strike tied up about 60 American passenger and dry cargo ships berthed in Atlantic and Gulf Coast ports.

Meany announced Monday night that the strikers' union and management had agreed on the issues he is to arbitrate.

Arbitration sessions will start here Oct. 21.

The deck officers are members of the International Organization of Masters, Mates and Pilots. The 23 shipping companies involved are represented by the American Merchant Marine Institute.

The union president, Capt. Robert E. Durkin, announced that the union had ordered the officers to return to their ships.

The strike began shortly after last Tuesday midnight, when the work contract expired and negotiations were deadlocked.

Ships tied up by the strike included some big liners such as the United States and the American.

Waters and not an issue in the dispute. Among the union's goals are longer vacations, overtime pay for holidays, premium pay on ships that carry obnoxious cargoes and their fringe benefits.

The union, making a concession as the strike ended, agreed that four of the largest steamship lines could continue to control the hiring of captains. The union had sought to gain control over the placing of captains aboard 120 ships through union hiring halls.

There was no indication when talks would resume.

Thomas F. Fickie, president of United Auto Workers Local 1140, said some 150 of the local's 170 workers turned down a tentative agreement yesterday.

The agreement had been mapped Saturday. It reportedly dealt with wages and working conditions, although neither union nor company officials would discuss the issues.

Fickie said new union meetings would be conducted to determine the feelings of members.

Workers at the plant have been on strike since last week. The walkout began in conjunction with a national UAW strike against GM and continued in protest of local conditions. A national settlement was reached.

A. P. & L. Power Recommended for Hope Plant

Purchase of electricity from Arkansas Power & Light Co., rather than the alternative of going into debt for facilities to connect with the federal Southwest Power Administration, was recommended by the Hope Water & Light Commission to the Board of City Directors Monday night.

The city directors voted to receive the report and await any objections from citizens. Absence of objections would clear the way for the Water & Light Commission to enter into a power-purchasing contract.

New Rambler on Display at Trading Post

DETROIT — American Motors today introduced its new 1959 Rambler which features new exterior and interior styling, and engineering changes designed to further increase Rambler economy of operation and durability.

The 108 inch wheelbase Rambler Six and Rambler Rebel V-8 models will be on sale at the 2,000 Rambler dealerships across the country on Oct. 8, according to Roy Abernethy, vice president of automotive distribution and marketing. The company's Ambassador V-8 and Rambler American models, also will be placed on sale Oct. 8 at the Trading Post here.

"Rambler sales set a new all-time record in 1958 because of the great public swing to the concept of compactness, economy and maneuverability," Abernethy said. We anticipate even further production and sales gains in 1959 since more motorists each year are becoming aware of the Rambler concept of motoring.

Eleven models, including station wagons, hardtops and sedans, will be offered in the Six and V-8 series. All are four-door models. Fifteen single-tone and 18 two-tone color combinations, including many metallic finishes, are available.

U. S. Escorts More Supplies to Quemoy

By SPENCER MOOSA

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — U. S. Navy ships escorted more supplies to Quemoy today as the Communist cease-fire continued into the second day.

Nationalist guns on the offshore islands also were silent in the absence of attack from the Red artillery on the mainland.

The Reds had announced they would halt their attacks on the islands for a week beginning Sunday midnight if the Americans stopped escorting the Chinese Nationalist supply ships. But Monday and again today they offered no opposition to Nationalist convoys which still were shepherded by ships of the U. S. 7th Fleet to the three-mile limit off Quemoy.

Supplies also were dropped on Quemoy from Nationalist C-47 transports.

Reports from Washington said it was expected there the American export operations would be suspended in a day or two, and that the suspension would continue as long as the cease-fire did.

The Nationalists had virtually no expectation that the Reds would prolong the truce beyond the one-week period they set themselves. The local air was filled with predictions of major Communist military action when the period expires Sunday midnight — or even before.

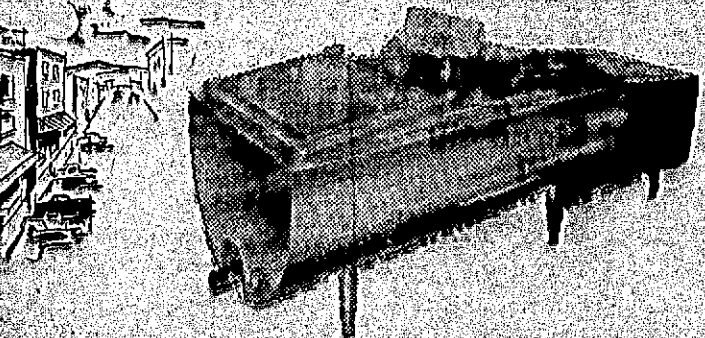

Nationalist intelligence sources reported that the Communists had been commencing motorized truck convoys along the coast from Hong Kong area northward for a possible invasion of the Quemoy. The Reds were reported to have ordered that none of the crewmen should be under 25 years of age.

on an appeal from an earlier ruling in the case.

The earlier ruling was by U.S. District Judge John E. Miller, who declined to accept the case, saying he was without jurisdiction.

The NAACP appealed and got a temporary restraining order.

The order of the three-judge court yesterday said in part:

"As the simplest and most effective way of continuing the necessary protection to appellants until the hearing of the case on its merits, said temporary order is hereby renewed and extended to and including Oct. 15, in all its terms and prohibitions" (and applies to) "appellees, their officers, agents, servants, employees and attorneys, and all persons in active concert or participation with them."

Road Requirement Is Ruled Out

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The attorney general's office yesterday struck down a requirement the Arkansas Highway Commission had set for accepting county roads into the state system.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Roy Finch Jr. said the commission had no authority to make approval by the federal Bureau of Public Roads a condition of acceptance.

The roads in question were offered to the state under the Millum Act, which permits each county to designate 12 miles of roads to be added to the state system.

Rep. Weems Trussell, of Dallas County requested the attorney general's opinion on the commission's policy.

It was the second time the attorney general's office had ruled against commission action on the Millum Act roads.

Previously, the commission had been told it could not require counties to provide free, cleared right-of-way along the highways as a condition of acceptance into the state system.

Injunction Suit Hearing Delayed

CONWAY, Ark. (AP) — Chancellor George O. Patterson yesterday put off hearing an injunction suit against picketing at the Arkansas Children's Colony site here.

His action left in force a temporary order which prohibits the Common Laborers' Union from picketing construction at the site.

The chancellor said he would pass the case while State Sen. Guy Jones, attorney for the Nabholz Construction Co., determines whether he can force further delay because the Legislature technically is in session.

Nabholz seeks to prevent the union from resuming picketing the colony construction project in a labor dispute.

Jones said he would ask the Supreme Court to clarify the status of the lawyer members of the Legislature.

The attorney contends that a state law exempts him from appearing in court while the General Assembly is in session. He said the law should apply because the Legislature recessed rather than adjourned at the end of its recent special session.

Gov. Orval E. Faubus kept the lawmakers on a standby basis at the end of the session, called to enact an integration legislation.

But George S. Miller, chancellor of North Little Rock High said he would try to discourage further demonstrations.

This morning, newsmen could find no sign of a demonstration.

Demonstration at N. L. R. Is Squelched

NORTH LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A planned student demonstration apparently was squelched here today.

Yesterday between 15 and 25 youths demonstrated near a white North Little Rock High School in support of proposed private segregated high schools in neighboring Little Rock. They carried signs and a spokesman, John Royer, said $20 was collected for the Little Rock Private School Corp.

Royer also said yesterday another demonstration was planned for following morning.

Five Arrested in Rummel Burglary

NEWPORT, Ark. (AP) — The arrest of five men in connection with a $1,300 burglary at nearby Rummel was announced yesterday by Sheriff Ernest C. Dyke.

All were charged with burglary and grand larceny of the McCarty Mercantile Co., by Deputy Prosecutor Max O. Bowie. They waived preliminary hearing and were held in lieu of $1,500 to $2,400 bond.

The suspects were identified as Burl Ashworth, 24; Edgar Baumgartner, 51; Roy Lawhorn, 21; Lonnie Clark, 49, and his brother Delmon Clark, 36. All live in the Tupelo area, 18 miles south of here.

Sheriff Dyke said the money had not been recovered. It and a 500-pound safe were taken from the establishment last Tuesday night. The men were arrested during the weekend, the sheriff said.

Temperance Official to Speak at L. R.

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Mrs. Fred J. Tooez of Evansville, Ill., corresponding secretary for the National Women's Christian Temperance Union, will be principal speaker here tonight at a meeting of the Arkansas WCTU. Mrs. J. M. Spicer of Stuttgart, state President, said the annual convention will continue through tomorrow.

Those four were certified by the Arkansas Assessment Co. - Ordination Dept., as having reached the required 18 per cent property assessment level.

Department officials said a number of other counties have applied for certification and checks are now in progress.

Under the assessment law, counties which fail to reach the 18 per cent level this year will lose part of their state turnbacks after Jan. 1.

Two States Study School Problems

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Plans are being made to provide educational facilities for some of the 17,000 youngsters idled by school closings in Arkansas and Virginia and the dynamiting of the high school at Clinton, Tenn.

Fourteen schools are shut down in the three states. In several sections, legal sparring continued between state and federal authorities while statements on the integration crisis came from Washington and Florida.

Supreme Court Justice Felix Frankfurter asked Monday for a constructive use of time in school integration in general but said that lawlessness if not checked is the forerunner of anarchy. He issued an opinion concurring with the court's unanimous decision in the Little Rock case last week.

In Little Rock, Gov. Orval E. Faubus expressed belief that private all-white schools would be in operation by mid-October. He made the statement a few hours after an appellate court in St. Louis extended until Oct. 15 a ban on operation of the four high schools as private, segregated institutions.

Dr. T. J. Roney, president of the Little Rock Private School Corp., said his group planned to begin operating as soon as possible in private buildings with private donations without waiting for the Oct. 15 federal court decision.

At Clinton, state and federal authorities continued searching for clues to the identity of the dynamiters while 850 high school pupils, including 11 Negroes, prepared to shift classes to an elementary school at Oak Ridge six miles from Clinton.

Principal W. D. Human said as he outlined plans to send the youngsters to Oak Ridge by bus, probably starting Thursday. The Atomic Energy Commission authorized use of the vacant school at Oak Ridge because some children of AEC employees attended Clinton.

Clinton High was integrated by federal court order two weeks ago. Several incidents occurred the first year but the situation quieted down later.

In Virginia, Duncan C. Gibbs, chairman of a citizens' committee which formed an educational foundation in Warren County, said juniors and seniors of the closed high school at Mount Royal would start emergency classes Wednesday.

Eight other schools in Charlottesville and Norfolk remained closed.

Federal Judge Albert V. Bryan refused to dismiss a suit seeking admission of 14 Negroes to two white high and three elementary schools in Alexandria, Va. He set Oct. 30 as the date for arguments in the case.

Louisiana Would Aid Little Rock

BASTROP, La. (AP) — State Sen. W. M. Rainach of Sumnerfield said he would ask Gov. Earl Long today to proclaim a "Little Rock Day" to collect funds to aid Little Rock's fight against integrated schools.

The Morehouse Parish Citizens Council made the proposal at its meeting here last night. Rainach, advised of the action by telephone, said he also will ask the governors of other southern states to join in the move.

"A 'Little Rock Day,' Rainach said, would present an excellent opportunity for Louisiana to show the people of Little Rock that it is 100 per cent behind them not only with its good wishes but with money.

Justice Burton to Retire From High Court

By JOHN H. AVERILL
WASHINGTON (AP) — Justice Harold H. Burton is retiring next Monday after 13 years on the Supreme Court—opening the way for the court's first Eisenhower-appointed majority.
The White House announced the 70-year-old jurist's unexpected request for retirement Monday night a short time after the court opened its regular fall term.
The announcement gave no indication of whom President Eisenhower might name as a successor to Burton or how soon he might act.
Burton, a Republican, wrote Eisenhower he was retiring "with regret but in accordance with competent medical advice and with a desire to serve the best interests of all concerned." Burton's two-paragraph letter didn't elaborate.
Approving the request, Eisenhower praised Burton for "devoted and dedicated public service." Eisenhower's appointment of a successor will be his fifth to the nine-man court.
Except for this selection of Chief Justice Warren—a former California governor and twice an aspirant for the Republican presidential nomination—Eisenhower has picked Supreme Court judges from other judicial posts.
Of the three other Eisenhower appointees, Justices John M. Harlan and Charles Evans Whittaker were federal appeals court judges and Justice William J. Brennan was a member of the New Jersey State Supreme Court.
With Burton leaving, the court has five Democrats and three Republicans, members of the latter being Warren, Harlan and Whitaker.
Burton's retirement leaves the court with only one justice, Tom C. Clark, who was appointed by lams, who is a patient in a local hospital.

In Dallas and Fort Worth for the football games over the weekend were Mr. and Mrs. Albert Graves, Johnny Graves and David Watkins. Also making the trip were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Walker, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Robins, and Mr. and Mrs. Homer Jones.

DOROTHY DIX Two Families, One Roof Equals Compound Faction

Dear Dorothy Dix:
When my husband came out of service, we ran smack up against the housing shortage and in desperation accepted my sister's invitation to live with her. She's several years older than I, and is very well established in the community. We all get along well and are very congenial, until social life is considered. We've never been out with them. When her friends visit, I fix refreshments, help clean the house but rarely am invited to join the fun. Socially my husband and I get nowhere. I'm attractive, neat, am considered good company but lack the jewels, furs and cars that my sister's crowd parade. We're working up to them. I've talked to my sister about it, but she puts on a patronizing "big sister" act and says we're too young for her friends.—Cindy G.
Dear Cindy: The only solution is a place of your own. Housing shortage or not, there is some corner of the city that you and your husband can feather for your own nest. Your sister's friends are well established wives and mothers who have little in common with a young career girl. If they chew you into their circle, you'd soon be bored stiff listening to stories of dental braces, P. T. A. dancing lessons and scouting. These, too, you will grow into. Sister helped when you needed aid. She cheerfully took you into her home and, really, you shouldn't expect much more. If she doesn't want her little sister tagging along, you can't entirely blame her. If you organize your own life and make your own friends, you and sister will get along much better than if you tried to live each other's lives.
Dear Dorothy Dix:
Please don't pass me by. Although I'm 12 years older my parents still refuse to let me stay up past 8 p.m. Sometimes my friends come over in the evening and it's very embarrassing to have them know I retire so early.—Wilde Awake.
Dear W. A.: Let's see. At your age nine hours of sleep are prescribed. Your present bedtime should get you awake at 6 a.m. Suppose you try practicing the piano if you take lessons.
James, President Human. The other three were named by Franklin D. Roosevelt. They are Justices Hugo L. Black, Felix Frankfurter and William O. Douglas.

A. P. & L. Power

been 12.2 milles per KWH. Increased labor and fuel costs are the principal factors in the increase. There is no chance to lower these costs until the load has grown to several times its present size.

Cost of SPA Power

In figuring the cost of power purchased from SPA, the cost would have to include amortizing the $300,000 spent on a line and sub-station. The costs, would amount to 9.3 milles for the year 1958 and is estimated at 7.9 milles for the year 1962. Under the rate available from the Arkansas Power & Light Company, the rate for 1958 would be 7.56 milles and is estimated at 7.8 milles for the year 1962. The average cost of power under the SPA contract for this period would be 8.66 milles. The average cost under the Arkansas Power & Light rate would be 7.75 milles. To each of the figures would be added one mill per KWH, which is the estimated cost of maintaining the plant as a stand-by facility. Taking the lowest of these figures, the Arkansas Power & Light rate, and assuming the plant could maintain its present cost, there would still be a saving of over 3 milles per KWH. The average kilowatt-hour sales during the five-year period will be around 24 million KWH per year. A saving of 3 milles per KWH will, on this amount, represent a saving of $72,000 per year.

There is more flexibility under the terms of the Arkansas Power & Light contract, in that the load can vary from month to month, almost to any extent, while under the terms of SPA contract, power needs must be estimated for three years in advance. Having available an almost unlimited power supply would remove one of the problems of obtaining new industry. This is a factor that should be given weight when considering the problem of a power supply.

After studying all of the various alternatives during the past year, the Water & Light Commission employed the services of a consulting engineer to review all of the plans under consideration. His report shows that a contract with the Arkansas Power & Light for wholesale power would save the city about $75,000 during the next five years over the rate available from the SPA, and that it would save the city around $400,000 during the five-year period, over the cost of producing the current in an expanded power plant.

Against Debt

In view of the foregoing, the Water & Light Commission cannot recommend adding the enormous debt burden which will be necessary to expand the plant. It is our belief that wholesale power should be purchased until such a time as the community has grown large enough that power can be produced cheaper than it can be purchased. We believe the contract with the Arkansas Power & Light offers some advantages in addition to the savings over the SPA power costs. The city would not have to own nor maintain the high voltage equipment, and we do not have either the tools or the personnel to carry on this operation as well as could be done by the companies who are operating many hundreds of miles of this type of equipment. Under the terms of the Arkansas Power & Light contract, we could make immediate demands upon their system for additional power. This could be of great value in securing industry, since one of the first things a heavy industry would require is assurance of adequate power. Also, under the terms, and as a part of the contract, the Hope generating station would be kept in operating condition. This would assure that the plant would not be allowed to run down, and would be in good condition if the community should grow to a point where it is feasible to increase the size of the plant.

County Workers Talk Retirement Plan

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The 1950 Legislature will be asked to set up a retirement plan for all county employees in the state. Pulaski County Clerk R. S. (Bob) Peters said yesterday.
He said the bill would make the plan similar to one approved by the 1957 Legislature for state employees. Participation would be mandatory.
If approved, he said, it probably would go into effect July 1, 1959, and include all county employees except justices of the peace.
Peters revealed plans for introduction of the bill at a meeting of the Arkansas Assessors' Assn. Under the plan county employees would make up to $4,500 a year would put 2 per cent of their salary into a special retirement account. Those who made between $1,000 and $4,500 would put in 4 per cent. Each county would contribute matching funds.
Benefits would be paid to county employees who had 20 years of service when they became 60 years old or 40 years service at the age of 55.

Millionaires in Race for N. Y. Governor

By JAMES DEVLIN
NEW YORK (AP) — The race between two civic minded multimillionaires for the New York governorship gives some signs of being closer than expected. The odds presently favor Gov. Averell Harriman's re-election bid.
Nelson A. Rockefeller, a new face before the voters, has been waging a spirited, personable, no-holds-barred campaign that has encouraged Republicans.
They think Democrat Harriman is no longer the shoo-in he appeared to be before the August nominating conventions.
Manhattan bookies rate Harriman at this point as a 9-5 favorite in the Nov. 4 balloting.
Republicans insist that a poll conducted under a GOP auspices in September showed Rockefeller and Harriman running even. They report that each polled 40 per cent and 20 per cent were undecided.
Some top Democrats have counselled against complacency or against being lulled into a false sense of security by the Democratic landslide in Maine Sept. 8. One such warning came from Gov. Edmund Muskie, elected senator in that election.
Harriman is taking nothing for granted. He has been visiting every section of the state to speak and shake hands with the same fervor he did in 1954.
That year he won the governorship over Republican Sen. Irving M. Ives by the squeaky margin of 1,000 votes of more than five million cast.

Since then he has had ample opportunity to build his political strength.
He was able to build the Democratic organization through patronage after 12 years of Republican state administration under Gov. Thomas E. Dewey.
Meanwhile, came what Harriman calls "The Eisenhower recession," the Sherman Adams case, some uneasiness over Eisenhower's Quoniam policy, and the Democratic triumph in Maine.
All added up to give the Democrats confidence that this is their year.
But New York Republicans contend the New York campaign will hinge on state issues—not Quoniam or Adams, although Rep. Kenneth B. Keating, their candidate for the Senate, was one of the GOP office seekers who demanded that Adams resign.
Although Rockefeller doesn't mention it, Republicans have been stressing quickly the difference in the candidates' ages.
Republican campaign literature notes that Rockefeller is 50, and that Harriman "becomes" 67, on Nov. 15.

Rockefeller's activity in philanthropic work for minority groups long before his name cropped up as a possibility for governor may help him in strongly Democratic New York City.
He has contributed to low-cost housing in Puerto Rico and Israel and has participated in causes for Negro advancement.
Rockefeller himself appears increasingly confident.

We feel that there are only two reasons for the city being in the electric light and power business. One is to provide good electric service at reasonable rates, and the other is to make some earnings which can be used for other community facilities. During the past, this plant has contributed a lot to improvements that have made Hope a better community. This transfer of money has been reduced about half in order to provide needed improvements to the electrical system. It is our aim to build this back to where it can again provide more money than is now being made available for other community services. The contract for wholesale power will lower the costs enough that we can offer an over all 5% reduction in the rates now being charged for electricity and still leave some additional earnings which can be made available for other purposes. While this is a responsibility of the Hope Water & Light Commission, and the decision must be ours we are submitting this to the Board because we feel this is of important concern to the elected officials. We believe that the final decision should be one that meets with the approval of the elected representatives of the community. We shall be happy to meet and further discuss any details which could not be included in this report.

Respectfully submitted,
Hope Water & Light Commission

Matter of FACT

Tunneling is one of the oldest types of engineering. The Egyptians, the people of India, and the Aztecs in Middle America all dug long passages into the earth for their graves and temples. The Assyrians built underground drains and tunneled under the Euphrates River. The Greeks also built tunnels, but the greatest tunnel builders in ancient historical times were the Romans.

Extension of Bus Service Is Refused

By LEON HATCH

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas Supreme Court today refused to permit Inter City Transit Co. to extend its present limited operation between Little Rock and Fort Smith.

Three of the seven justices dissented to the decision.

In 1956 the Missouri Pacific Transportation Co., now Midwest Bus Lines, discontinued its service between Russellville and Fort Smith over Highways 7 and 22 and reduced the number of its runs between Fort Smith and Little Rock over Highways 64 and 65.

Inter City held a permit for local service between Little Rock and Fort Smith but not for through service between the two cities.

It applied to the Public Service Commission for authority to institute through service.

Missouri Pacific and Crown Coach Co., which also operates between Little Rock and Fort Smith, resisted.

In a 2-1 decision the commission granted Inter City's request that the restrictions on its operation be lifted.

On appeal, the Pulaski Circuit Court affirmed the commission order permitting Inter City service between Fort Smith and Little Rock by way of Dardanelle south of the Arkansas River, but said there was insufficient evidence to support the application for alternate service by way of Clarksville north of the river.

Both sides appealed the Supreme Court.

Speaking for the Supreme Court majority, Associate Justice George Rose Smith held that Inter City had not established the need for any additional service.

The original application of Inter City was ordered denied.

Chief Justice Carleton Harris and Justice Minor Milburn would have affirmed the judgment of the circuit court.

Associate Justice J. S. Holt would have reinstated the decision of the commission.

The Supreme court affirmed sentences imposed against two defendants in Poinsett Circuit Court for burglary and grand larceny. James George Reeves was sentenced to 20 years imprisonment and Lonnie Nal to 15 years. They were convicted of burglarizing the Ben Powell Chevrolet Co. at Terrell, Mo., of property worth more than $1,000 on April 21, 1957.

Also affirmed was a 2-year sentence for stealing a horse imposed against Monroe Lindsey to Little River Circuit Court. The court upheld a divorce grant of Dr. V. R. Fox against Mrs. Lena Fox in Mississippi Chancery Court, Chickasawba District. Mrs. Fox, who filed an earlier suit seeking a divorce and a property settlement, had appealed.

The Supreme Court held that a bondsman is responsible for the court appearance of a defendant even though the latter is in jail in another state.

Clay Circuit Court forfeited a bond of $5,000 executed by Russell James and Earl Bell when their client, James A. (Doc) Bowling, did not appear to answer a charge of possessing stolen goods.

The lower court held the fact that Bowling at the time was in jail at Kennel, Mo., on burglary and grand larceny charges, did not relieve the bondsman.

The Supreme Court agreed in a decision written by Chief Justice Harris.

"A bondsman," Harris wrote, may well consider, when executing bail, many factors that might prevent the return of the principal (such as) the general character and reputation of the defendant, and the seriousness of the charge against him . . . and the possibility of the principal becoming involved in further trouble, as happened in this instance."

The BRAND RIDER
by ED LA VANWAY

Lane freed head on into a blinding sandstorm for a couple of minutes, trying to fight his horse toward the herd, and then a driving rain struck him. He got the horse to stand still, and dismounted to put on his slicker, the mustang turning tail to the wind, and at this moment a flash of lightning showed Lane three riders who weren't on the Four-Arrow payroll.

They were close, and had evidently come up from the road. Lane didn't have time to wonder about their individual identities, but he knew they were enemies. Their actions prove it.

A streak of gunfire shot out and Lane felt the hot spin of a slug near his jaw. He flung himself back from his horse, dropping his slicker, and pulled his pistol. A crash of thunder reverberated across the heavens directly overhead. More streaks of gunfire shone there in the rain. Lane returned the fire.

When the next bolt of lightning came, Lane was looking at a rearing horse. The saddle was empty and heavily ornamented with silver—Joanquín Verdugo's knick! The other men, then, were Corday and Rudnick, and they had shot to kill because they thought Lane had recognized them and they meant to stampede Lane's herd. Filled with a desire to empty two more saddles, Lane stood braced against the rain.

His own horse was walking away now, headed for the shelter of the bosque, trotting forward. Lane caught the cold-jawed brute and swung astride him.

Lane reloaded his gun, rain streaming from his hands, and spurred toward the place he had seen gunpowder blaze.

He tried to locate the spot where Verdugo's horse had reared but found no evidence that he had brought Verdugo down.

Soaking wet, with the roar and crash of the storm in his ears and the weight of it thrusting against his body, Lane headed for the place where he had dropped his slicker. Before he could pick up the garment, he heard a sound that chilled his blood.

The whole summer's work was wasted, or most of it. The herd was running, the pounding hoofs and clacking horns loud in the lull between peals of thunder.

Lane's horse almost jumped out from under him, and he found himself tearing along with four other riders. Getting his mount under control and realizing there was still a chance to put the herd into a mill, he yelled, "Turn them! Use your guns!" He swung over against the lead steers, the explosion of his 41 sounding with the guns of his crew as all tried to swing the panicked steers toward the west. The lead steers swerved. Balls of lightning were playing on the tips of their horns. The same thing happened to the ears of Lane's horse. The hands were all yelling now and some were hitting at the steers with doubled ropes. It looked as though the herd would mill, but the mad-dogged heels made one circle and the Four-Arrow hands were unable to hold the leaders. The head steers cut northeast and then lined out straight for the creek. Lane rounded.

He would lose some of them now. Some would brain themselves against the trees or break legs and have to be shot.

Swinging wide of the herd, Lane kept yelling his "turn" with both hands and yelled for the men to quell the herd. He wanted them to keep out of the timber. Now heard him. His voice filled no ears but his own because the longhorns ran full — till into the unbrush smashing down saplings and sounding as though they were uprooting half the timber in the bottom. It was a sickening sound to Lane.

He reined up the creek, two riders looming beside him, and found a solid place to cross over emerging a few minutes later onto the gulched, rolling land to the east.

The longhorns had split up after smashing through the bosque, and were running every which way.

Lane shouted at the men near by, "Pick up a bunch and slay with them," and when the range brightened again with lightning, he himself lined out after a bunch of about 200 head.

It took him an hour to run the critters down and get them into a mill. It took him twice that long to choose them back across the creek and onto the flats, where he found Four-Arrow hands holding a gather of about two thirds of the herd. Cutting his bunch in with these cattle, Lane rode back to help bring up other bunches as riders appeared with them.

Arkansans Told They Lack Pride

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A national real estate leader said today Arkansas' greatest need is "for the people to have a revival of pride and feeling about their state."

H. Walter Graves of Philadelphia, Pa., president of the National real estate leader said today declared "there is greater opportunity here in Arkansas than in any other state in the union."

"At the same time," he added, "I have seen the utter lack of pride on the part of Arkansas residents."

Graves addressed the 34th annual convention of the Arkansas Real Estate Assn., which ended a 2-day convention here.

Commenting on his first visit to Arkansas, Graves said, "You have everything in this state — land, natural resources, water supply, available labor and beautiful countryside, yet, who knows it except the people living here in Arkansas?"

Graves described the development of the Arkansas River as one of the most important improvements that the state could hope to achieve.

"The people of the state should get behind the river project 100 per cent," he asserted. "You have no idea how much growth it will mean from both an industrial and economic standpoint. Why, within a few years the center of Arkansas could be an industrial sector unrivaled anywhere in the nation."

snaking them out. The creek was rising, Lane said to Webster, "We better help them. Ken, borrow some of them drow!"

Lane ordered two vaqueros to loose the herd the best "stay with them while the rest of us go east."

Episcopal Church Group in Session

By GEORGE W. CORNELL

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The Episcopal Church, which has run into past setbacks in trying to hold a nonsegregated general convention in the South, had one going without a hitch today.

The three-million-member denomination is meeting in the South for the first time in 33 years.

It's 50th triennial general convention opened Sunday night with a stirring mass worship service, and an appeal from its presiding bishop for Christians to mobilize their convictions in dealing with crucial modern issues.

"Let us live in no ivory tower of irrelevance, but with the help of God let's try to face realistically the problems of our day from the point of eternity," said the Rt. Rev. Henry Knox Sherrill, Bishop Sherrill, who has headed the church for 11 years and who also is a president of the World Council of Churches, listed racial tension among various grave questions which he said the church must meet head on.

The Christian solution, he said, has nothing "to do with popular appeal, with contemporary compromise but with the will of God in so far as we can know it."

There were several Negro delegates among the 16,000 church people who moved in stately procession into Miami Beach's big new Exhibition Hall Sunday night.

The Rt. Rev. Henry T. Loytett, bishop of South Florida, told this reporter that the Miami Beach Convention Bureau had given assurance that all delegates would be accommodated "without discrimination."

The church's last convention three years ago originally had been scheduled in Houston, Tex., but it was decided that the non-segregated facilities insisted on by the church could not be obtained there. As a result the convention was held in Honolulu.

Pilot Plans Space Trip in Balloon

By STEVE LOWELL

ALAMOGORDO, N.M. (AP)—A young jet pilot plans a leisurely balloon journey to the stratosphere Tuesday. He wants to see if he can help man take the vital step over that high threshold into space.

Lt. Clifton McClure will make the jaunt in a capsule which looks like a giant version of one of the doctor prescribes. This sealed metal container is a replica of the cockpit in which man eventually may soar into space in a rocket.

McClure, 25, of Anderson, S.C., will wedge himself into the midst of a myriad of instruments for a ride to about 100,000 feet—roughly 20 miles—for a day-night stay.

He hopes by this solitary feat, to further the Air Force's careful study of how nature treats man close to the edge of space. He hopes to learn more about what man needs to have with him and know in order to survive there—tion."

Graves said the real estate industry could help the state's development by urging an "overhaul" of the tax laws and by helping sell outside industry on the advantages of locating in Arkansas.

"A state, by its tax laws, should make it attractive for industry to locate within its boundaries," he said. "That is something which you can help by legislation."

He said the tax situation might have been a "possible cause for the recent recession."

Graves said the recession was mild in Arkansas because of its diversification of industry.
